come home for the holidays, he is forced to put Christmas back together. This film is not yet rated by the MPAA. For future ratings information refer to www.filmratings.com.
Directed by: Joe Roth
Cast: Tim Allen, Jamie Lee

In Revolution Studios' new comedy Christmas With The Kranks, based on John Grisham's best-selling novel Skipping Christmas, Tim Allen plays Luther Krank, a man who decides to skip Christmas and all the surrounding trappings and go on a vacation with his wife Nora (Jamie Lee Curtis) instead. But when his daughter decides, at the last minute, to

Shark Tale

By Eleodoro Ventocilla/VPE

"Shark Tale" is an undersea comedy that gives new meaning to the phrase "sleeping with the fishes." Executive producer Jeffrey Katzenberg remarks, "Shark Tale" shares the same kind of sensibility as 'Shrek' in that it's a little irreverent, a little subversive, and very much a play on a genre. Just as 'Shrek' was a send-up of fairy tales, this film takes on the classic mob film genre, turning it upside down and inside out and just having a lot of fun with it.

Director Vicky Jenson came to "Shark Tale" with more than a passing familiarity with "Shrek's" sensibilities, having been a director on the franchise's first Oscar winning blockbuster. She observes, "In much the same way as 'Shrek,' 'Shark Tale' had both great comedic possibilities and great heart. I thought it would be fun to do a mob comedy spoof with an urban backdrop, but put it under the sea." Director Rob Letterman, who also co-wrote the "Shark Tale" screenplay with Michael J.

Wilson, acknowledges. "It has elements of a pop-culture parody, but it's also a romantic comedy and an action comedy and also has moments in which we root for the characters and believe in them. I think it has something in it for everybody."

"Shark Tale" is the story of a director Ribo Berteron offers. "But all he has to do is open his eyes and see that everything he wants was there all along. The good life is right in front of him, he just doesn't see it. I think that's something anyone could relate to in some way."

Rounding out the main cast are: Dough E. Dough and Ziggy Marlye as Bernie and Ernie, two Rastafarian jellyfish with a stinging sense of humor; Michael Imperioi ("The Sopranos") as Don Lino's oldest son. Will Smith as Oscar, a hustle who has always been able to fin-agle his way out of trouble, until now. Robert De Niro as Don Lino, a great white shark at the top of the Reef's food chain; Renee Zellweger as Angie, the beautiful angelfish who harbors a secret crush on Oscar; Angelina Jolie, a cross between a lion fish and a dragonfish, who uses her feminine wiles to get what she wants; Jack Black as Don Lino's son Lenny, a great white shark who is a closet vegetarian; and Martin Scorsese, a puffer fish who is full of hot air and never misses an opportunity to make a few extra clams.

Cathy Rigby is Peter Pan

Por Eleodoro Ventocilla/VPE

Cathy Rigby's name is synonymous with Peter Pan, having played the part on Broadway on a major National Tour in the 1990-91 Season, in the revival in 1998 and in the Emmy Award winning A&E special, for which she received critical acclaim.

Cathy Rigby is no stranger to the stage. She made her professional debut as "Dorothy" in the Wizard of Oz twenty-one years ago. Since that debut, she has starred in the national tour of Annie Get Your Gun, Meet Me in St. Louis, Paint Your Wagon, and They're Playing Our Song. Most recently, audiences were treated to her whimsical performance as the "Cat in the Hat" in Seussical both on Broadway and on tour. However, Peter Pan remains Cathy's favorite. "One of the greatest gifts of my theatrical career has been the opportunity to play "Peter Pan". The thrill of seeing the faces of children as I fly over their heads sprinkling fairy dust and having the chance (eight times a week) to relive the adventure of a perfect "make believe childhood." Her greatest joy is the reaction, letters and emails that she receives from countless children and adults alike.

Based on several chapters that appeared in James M. Barrie's 1902 novel, "The Little White Bird," the play Peter Pan was first performed in London in 1904. The present musical comedy version of Barrie's classic first appeared in 1954 starring Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard in the leading roles. Peter Pan recounts the adventures of the three Darling children as they fly away from their nursery into the magic and wonder of Never Land. It is in Never Land that they encounter the cunning and evil Captain Hook, villainous pirates, a crafty crocodile and a sprightly fairy, Tinker Bell. The score, a joint effort by Moose Charlap, Carolyn Leigh, Jule Styne and Betty Comden and Adolph Green remains a favorite of children and adults alike. Peter Pan features such classics as "I Gotta Crow," "Neverland" and "I'm Flying."

This all new production will be staged by Glenn Casale, a multi-Drama Logue and LA Critics' Award winner. The choreographer is Patti Colombo and Craig Barna is the musical director. The Emmy Award winning set design is by John Iacovelli, Shigeru Yaji designed the costumes and Tom Ruzika designed the lighting. Flying illusions are the ZFX, Inc. Producers of this all new production are: McCoy Rigby Entertainment, The

Gunn wraps his Grammy-nominated Ethnomusicology series with a hot live recording

Ethnomusicology Volume 4 to be released October 26; tour plans underway

From the inventive mind of trumpeter/composer Russell Gunn comes the last album in his two-time Grammy-nominated Ethnomusicology series, a comprehensive body of music rich in variety, vision, and virtuosity. Recorded live in Atlanta last March, Ethnomusicology Volume 4 will be released on October 26th by Justin Time Records, which is distributed nationally by IDN, a division of the Alliance Corporation. Gunn authored three of the five compositions on the collection and selected classics from masters George Gershwin ("Summertime") and Bill Evans and Miles Davis ("Blue In Green"). Three of the album's selections had never been recorded before by Gunn & his Ethnomusicology co-conspirators; "Shiva (The Destroyer)" originally appeared on Volume 1 and "Lyne's Joint" was taken from Volume 2. Both Volume 1 and Volume 2 received Grammy nominations.

Ethnomusicology Volume 4 is the eleventh album release in the past ten years from the prolific Gunn. His audacious approach to music with African roots, from which he believes all music has emerged, has received praise from critics and earned the respect of musicians in virtually all genres. The artist first drew attention a decade ago for his performances with the Lincoln Center Jazz Orchestra and he went on to play and record with musicians as diverse as Wynton and Branford Marsalis and Oliver Lake to Maxwell, D'Angelo, Cee-Lo and Lou Reed. Born in Chicago and raised in East St. Louis, Gunn's first love was hip hop. He deftly incorporates the rhythms and rhymes of the streets into his unique sonic-scapes, which crash, clash and collide with classical jazz, R&B, blues, rock, dance and a variety of ethnic music. At times, Gunn allows his trumpet to sing naturally and at others, he imaginatively mutes or electronically manipulates the instrument's voice almost beyond recognition. The energy and passion with which he plays varies from urgent to patient, from frenetic to chill, and from edgy to refine.

"My goal with the Ethnomusicology series was to bring together various forms of music to demonstrate that you can create fresh melodies and grooves by being inclusive instead of exclusive. Why categorize and separate things unnecessarily?" asked Gunn. "I think we've done all that we can with it (the series) and now it's time to focus my music in new directions. I'm not exactly sure what that will be yet, but I do know that there won't be anything predictable or simple about it."

After having recently wrapped up a successful concert tour of Israel, Gunn will take his Ethnomusicology posse on the road this fall to perform in major U.S. cities, including Boston (Regatta Bar on Nov.

24), New York City (The Jazz Standard from Nov. 26-28), St. Louis (Jazz at the Bistro from Dec. 1-4), and Chicago (Hot House on Dec. 5). Additional dates and cities will be announced.

Performing on Ethnomusicology Volume 4 are Gunn (electric trumpet, flugel horn), Nick Rolfe (piano, keyboards), Carlos Henderson (electric bass), Carl Burnett (electric guitar), Kahlil Kwame Bell (percussion), Rocky Bryant (drums) and DJ Neil Armstrong (turntables). The album contains the following songs:

- "Blue In Green"
- "More Sybil's Blues"
- "Summertime"
- "Lyne's Joint"
- "Shiva (The Destroyer)"

MMPA PRESIDENT HUTCHERSON IS FETED AT GALA LUNCHEON BY SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA MOTION PICTURE COUNCIL

Hollywood... The Southern California Motion Picture Council presented their prestigious Unsung Heroes Award to the Multicultural

Motion Picture Association President Jarvee E. Hutcherson for his outstanding philanthropic work in the motion picture community on Friday, December 3rd at the Sportsmen's Lodge. Hutcherson as a longtime industry stalwart and executive producer of the Diversity Awards and House of Blues Concert series for Young Musicians, will be feted for his continued work in the motion picture community in bringing fresh and talented new blood into the entertainment community by way of his cinematic arts scholarships and through job placement of various individuals working as apprentices in production capacities.

As a respected industry leader and philanthropist, he has been an avid proponent of bringing different voices and perspectives together in the cinematic arts, and as head of the MMPA, a national organization of over 1200 members, his work on behalf of the arts has taken him throughout the country as an advocate for causes involving emerging artists seeking to bring diverse stories to the fore.

Along with this honor Hutcherson has been honored by the California Governor's office, and the California Assembly, as well as recognition from local and national leaders including the U.S. Senate and Congress, for his continued work on behalf of the motion picture community and his generous support of causes involving young people. He is listed among Outstanding
